ALUMNI GREETINGS

In a few years, we will celebrate the College's 50th anniversary and the significant achievements of a half century. This year we will reach the momentous number of 20,000 alumni who are spread throughout many continents around the world.

I'm sure the experience you had at Herkimer, like that of today's students, was truly transformative. New ideas, people and perspectives helped change the way you see yourself, the world, and your place in it. Staying connected as alumni can be equally impactful. We continually look for ways to help you keep connected and to build new relationships and strengthen existing ones with our alumni. We understand that many of you will likely one day return as members of the faculty and staff, trustees, or as parents of our students.

Please join us for Fall Fest & Alumni Weekend (September 27-29). A special alumni gathering will take place on Friday evening at Francesca's in Ilion, and on Saturday, we will host an alumni barbeque behind Wehrum Stadium (see schedule on page 19). If you share our affinity for Herkimer County Community College, join us and reconnect with your fellow alumni, share stories and remembrances from the past.

With kindest regards,

Lucia M. Bliss
Executive Director of the Foundation

HERKIMER | COUNTY | COLLEGE
Foundation™

Greetings from the President

The College is proud to present you with this latest issue of Connections. It is filled with stories of incredible accomplishments, life-long achievements and family ties to your alma mater. Those of us who work each day to make our College one that you can continue to be proud of, find these stories inspiring and uplifting. We think you will too, as you read about how our students flourish while studying here at Herkimer County Community College.

The compelling stories of our past and present students often indicate the “wonderful foundation” our College has provided them. Since most of our students are here to determine what they will do with their lives, the word foundation really does describe the essential groundwork needed to create a life well lived. How appropriate that we use the same word for our non-profit ancillary, The Herkimer County College Foundation.

The HCC Foundation helps our students through scholarship funding. It enriches programmatic offerings through instructional support funding so our students and the College can thrive. From the professional development which supports innovation in teaching and learning, to the capital construction which provides updated facilities such as our new science labs, to the multiple events we all enjoy, the Foundation is truly critical to the advancement of our College. We are grateful for the generosity of all who support us.

We hope that in this issue of Connections you learn about our high-quality, affordable, accessible opportunities and the impact we are making on our students and our extended communities. We hope you recognize the benefits of being alumni of this great institution. We look forward to you remaining connected and returning to campus often to remind yourself of that most important choice you made, to have Herkimer County Community College be the place where you built your foundation.

A Tradition Of Family Connections

MANY ALUMNI HAVE A FAMILY CONNECTION, WITH SEVERAL FAMILY MEMBERS OR MORE THAN ONE GENERATION GRADUATING FROM HERKIMER.

The Lake Family

Robert

John

Rachel

Thomas

“(HCCC) has been indispensable in educating the Lake family, and for that we’ll always be grateful.”

Recent Alumni Hall of Honor recipient Thomas Lake '99 spent his teenage years homeschooled in the Mohawk Valley. He's the fourth member of his immediate family to attend Herkimer. “Regarding Herkimer’s role in my family’s education, well, I can’t say enough good things about that,” Lake said. “My father, my older sister, my older brother and I all got need-based financial aid that allowed us to attend for pretty much free. It was a tremendous place to start. As of 2012, Lake, Liberal Arts & Sciences: General Studies, is the youngest senior writer for Sports Illustrated.

“My sister Rachel was guided along the way to her master’s degree, and so was my brother John,” Lake said. “Rachel is an adjunct professor at Spelman College, Georgia; and does volunteer work to help refugees in Clarkston, Georgia, one of the most diverse cities in America,” he added.

John '98, humanities, earned his HCCC degree, transferred to Roberts Wesleyan, then earned his master’s in social work from the University of Georgia. He’s a social worker in Atlanta, where he finds homes for lost children.

“My dad Robert, who was over 40 with no formal degree, had excellent professors at Herkimer, such as Dr. Peter Clarke (professor emeritus) who helped send him on his way to a doctorate,” Lake said. A few months ago, at the age of 60, Dr. Robert Lake earned his tenure as associate professor of curriculum studies at Georgia Southern University. He is now editing his third book. All six of the Lake children were home-schooled by their mother Elizabeth. “She taught me most of what I know about writing,” Lake added.

Lake credits many of the HCCC faculty with preparing him for a writing career. “The professors at Herkimer were just as good as I’ve found anywhere else,” he said. “This place has been indispensable in educating the Lake family, and for that we’ll always be grateful.”

The Schwabach Family

“Little did we know over 30 years ago, when we both started out our careers at HCCC, that we would meet each other, get married and raise three children who would all attend HCCC.”

Bruce
& Katie

Kelsey

Erica

James

J. Bruce and Katherine (Katie) Schwabach have seen all three of their children attend Herkimer. Bruce, associate professor of fine arts, was appointed to the HCCC faculty in 1978. Katie joined the professional staff in 1978 and is currently counselor/transfer services. She received the SUNY Chancellor’s Award for Excellence in Professional Service in 1993.

Their daughter Kelsey ‘04 majored in Liberal Arts & Sciences: General Studies. Kelsey was president of Phi Theta Kappa and a presidential scholar. She received a Cogar Scholarship while at Herkimer and transferred to Hartwick College for nursing. Her first job was at Boston Children’s Hospital in pediatric cardiac intensive care, before moving to Denver to accept a position at the Denver Children’s Hospital, while earning her nurse practitioner degree from the University of Colorado, Denver. Kelsey is living in Washington, D.C. and plans to continue in the field of pediatric cardiac intensive care.

Son James took College Now classes in 2004-2005, earning 18 college credits while still in high school. He applied his HCCC credits toward a degree in psychology from Union College and a master’s in sports psychology from Ithaca College. James also taught psychology classes at HCCC in fall 2011. He is currently employed by APEX Peak Performance,

Charlotte, NC. APEX has contracts with the U.S. Army (Wounded Warriors), corporate clients, and numerous athletic clients.

The Schwabach’s youngest child, Erica, graduated from Herkimer this May with a degree in Liberal Arts & Sciences: General Studies. A President’s List student, she is transferring to SUNY College of Environmental Science & Forestry, Syracuse for environmental studies. Erica won the Shirley Springer Scholarship sponsored by the Ilion Project, for students transferring into environmental studies. Erica’s goal is to pursue environmental journalism and green public relations.

“Little did we know over 30 years ago when we both started out our careers at HCCC that we would meet each other, get married and raise three children who would all attend HCCC,” Katherine Schwabach states.

“It has been so rewarding to have seen what a great college foundation Herkimer has been for our children. By beginning their college studies at Herkimer they were able to focus in on a career path, transfer to some excellent colleges and earn several transfer scholarships, and end up with very successful and rewarding careers. We feel very fortunate,” she added.

The Lanza Family

Thomas & Sharon

Joshua

“There is a lot of personal attention at Herkimer. You don’t get that everywhere.”

Sharon works in the family business, Custom Tool & Model Corporation, Frankfort, NY, a local precision machine shop whose clients include Remington Arms.

Joshua Lanza, Herkimer, earned a degree in Music Industry in May, following in his parents footsteps as alums of HCCC. His dad, Thomas Lanza, started out in Liberal Arts & Sciences: Science at Herkimer ‘80, then studied to be a pilot at Embry Riddle Aeronautical University in Florida. The cost became prohibitive, and Thomas transferred to SUNY Cortland where he earned his bachelor’s in geology. He became a science teacher at Herkimer High School, then earned a master’s in technology from SUNY Oswego. Tom is currently employed as a technology teacher in the Utica City School District. He and his wife, the former Sharon Naegele, had attended Herkimer High School together. Sharon ‘82 earned a degree in data processing at Herkimer, then a bachelor’s in business administration from SUNYIT. Sharon said, “My Herkimer experience was great. I grew up in the village, and knew by attending the community college I would save my parents money.” She reflected on how Sharon-Gleasant Howell, recent Athletic Hall of Fame inductee, was her teacher, and legendary Coach Paul Wehrum recruited her husband Tom for lacrosse. Sharon also had him for a teacher. “I learned a lot about business from Irv Mason. There is a lot of personal attention at Herkimer. You don’t get that everywhere,” Sharon said.

Joshua, the oldest of the four Lanza boys, said he wanted to attend Herkimer as his parents were alumni, and since he graduated fifth in his Herkimer High School class, he received a Herkimer County College Foundation tuition scholarship, which paid full tuition for his first year and half for the second year. “I liked that it was a short five minute drive up the hill. The convenience and friendly atmosphere helped me meet my goal—to meet as many people as possible. I don’t know how many people President Murray knows by name, but it was important to me that I was one of them.” Josh plans to transfer to SUNY Oneonta to earn a bachelor’s degree in adolescent education with a focus in English, and then earn a master’s in music and become a teacher. “As Herkimer’s Music Industry program continues to grow down the road, I may want to return here to teach,” he concluded.

Josh’s parents said their goal is to educate all four of their sons with college degrees and a minimal amount of debt. Expect to see three other Lanza boys in the Herkimer student body in years to come!

HERKIMER COMMUNITY MUSEUM

Grand Opening Celebration

“It is fitting that one year after the College was originally approached with the idea of providing a home for the replicated artifacts that now populate this new museum, we formally open the museum to the public.”

Daniel Sargent, Assistant to the President and Director of the Herkimer Community Museum

More than 100 college and community members celebrated the grand opening of the Herkimer Community Museum with a ribbon cutting and special museum tour in May. In collaboration with the International Museum Institute of New York (IMINY), Herkimer County Community College, and its partners, the Village of Herkimer, Herkimer Now, Herkimer BOCES and the Frank J. Basloe Library, worked together to make the Herkimer Community Museum possible.

The museum features replicated artifacts from three main exhibits: “Mesozoica: The Age of Dinosaurs,” featuring complete skeletons of a Chasmosaurus, a Maiasaur and a Raptor, as well as the skulls of a Tyrannosaurus Rex and an Allosaurus, and other dinosaur artifacts; “Paleomania,” which traces the evolution of dinosaurs from their beginnings to the coming of the giant meteor that is believed to have led to their extinction; and “Tutankhamen:

Wonderful Things from the Pharaoh’s Tomb,” featuring spectacular ancient Egyptian artifacts from the tomb of King Tut. The museum also has a fossil dig, where children can have a first-hand archeological experience as they discover a variety of fossils.

The museum brings educational opportunities to the community, particularly for elementary and middle school students, and reinforces their classroom curricula by establishing connections between the artifacts on exhibit and their classroom instruction. Public access is made possible by a Capacity Building Grant from the United Way of the Valley and Greater Utica Area.

Representatives of the collaborating organizations and major contributors, along with several children in attendance, participated in the cutting of the ribbon. Daniel Sargent, Assistant to the President and Director of the Herkimer Community Museum said, “We are grateful for the efforts and contribution of all those who helped acquire the collections, and renovate and enhance the space. We also thank each and every one of the contributors for making this a reality and bringing to our children a space they can visit to learn, to explore and to enjoy. More importantly, it is a place that they can be proud to have in their very community.”

Located at 301 North Prospect Street in Herkimer, adjacent to Curves, the museum is open to the public Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, 11 am – 2 pm and by appointment for class visits.

New Science Wing Nears Completion

A 2.6 million dollar renovation of the science labs and prep rooms in Johnson Hall is nearly complete. The entire wing was gutted and rebuilt with state of the art equipment, custom cabinetry, new energy efficient heating and cooling units, and a new roof. A ribbon cutting for the renovated science wing will take place in the fall.

The science wing will be named the Edward Manning Gaynor and Shirley Augar Gaynor Science Wing, thanks to a generous gift of $300,000 from the Gaynor Trust. Several other contributions to the Foundation's Elements Campaign also helped make the renovation project possible, including $130,000 from The Community Foundation of Herkimer and Oneida Counties, Inc. and the Harry F. Dise Fund, The Wesley & Marion Small Fund and the Rosamond G. Childs Fund; $50,000 from M&T Bank; and $15,000 from Excellus Blue Cross Blue Shield.

Ranks Herkimer As One of the Best

CNNMoney recently published success rates of community colleges throughout the nation in conjunction with an article by Kim Clark entitled, “Community College: How to Avoid ‘Dropout Factories.’” In the report, Herkimer County Community College was ranked among the top 100 community colleges in the nation based on federally-reported graduation and transfer rates. Herkimer tied with Genesee Community College, Batavia, NY, for the top-ranked community college in New York State.

CNNMoney based their report on a chart created by College Measures, a joint venture of the American Institutes of Research and Matrix Knowledge Group, to help students find the best options among community colleges. According to College Measures, Herkimer ranks in the 97th percentile nationally among medium-sized public community colleges with a 62.1% graduation and transfer rate. HCCC President Ann Marie Murray said, “This report validates what we have known for quite some time. Herkimer County Community College students are able to successfully transfer to four-year colleges due to their performance in the classroom and the support they receive from our dedicated faculty and staff.” Approximately two-thirds of Herkimer’s graduates continue their education at four-year colleges and universities.

CNNMoney’s report, “How does your community college stack up?” is available at: <http://money.cnn.com/pf/college/community-colleges> CNNMoney is the world’s largest business website and is the online home of FORTUNE and MONEY magazines, and serves as CNN’s exclusive business site.

Alumni Help Make Career Fair A Success

Herkimer County Community College held its largest ever Career Fair with more than 70 employers represented. Students, alumni and community members had the opportunity to discuss and apply for full-time and part-time employment, as well as learn about various career fields. WKTV anchor Don Shipman (Class of 2000) was guest speaker and discussed the benefits of a community college education and how attending Herkimer helped lead to his career success. He cited the opportunity to explore various areas of study while taking general education courses, affordability, and the ability to make an easier transition to college as key reasons he chose to start his college education at Herkimer. He said, “I wasn’t ready to go to a four-year school, but I knew I wanted to get a higher education. Herkimer was a great opportunity and I had a great experience. This school and the professors here helped me get the foundation to move on to a four-year school.” Shipman earned an associate in applied science degree in Radio-TV Broadcasting at Herkimer and furthered his education at Utica College. Shipman has been employed with WKTV since 2004, and previously was a morning anchor at WUTR NewsChannel 20 for five years. Pictured is Shipman (left) at the HCCC Career Fair with Timothy Nuthall (Class of 2007), emedia manager at Nexstar Broadcasting Group WUTR/ WFXV/ WPNY.

Miers also served on the HCCC advisory committee for construction management. Reading from a statement provided by Dr. Mier's long-time companion Diane Brown, Executive Director of the Foundation Lucia Bliss said, "Ron had a unique background, combining academics with his practical experiences. Commencement 2012

GRADUATES GO GREEN

Graduates and faculty wore caps and gowns made of 100 percent, post-consumer recycled plastic bottles at the College’s commencement this spring.

Herkimer has made the switch to GreenWeaver; the fabric is spun from molten plastic pellets, and on average, it takes 23 bottles to make each gown. Graduates not wanting to keep their regalia for keepsakes placed them in collection containers after the ceremony so they can be recycled into yet other products. Faculty will now keep their regalia for future use.

Based on an approximate 500 gowns worn at Herkimer’s commencement, it is estimated that 11,500 plastic bottles were kept out of landfills this year.

“Herkimer provides you with opportunities to get involved and achieve things you did not think were possible before coming here.”

Michael Elleman '12

MIDNIGHT BREAKFAST

In preparation for late night studying for final exams, more than 300 students enjoyed a midnight breakfast buffet on the last day of classes. Sponsored by the Foundation, the breakfast was served by several College administrators and staff, including President Murray and Trustee Michael Testa.

I have all the confidence in the world that Willie will make an impact in the Rays organization. I am thankful they have given him this opportunity. Willie has opened the door for so many more players who will come through our program in the future."

"Baseball is my life and I am grateful for my opportunity to play for the Rays organization," stated Gabay. He added, "Herkimer baseball was the first step that helped me accomplish this dream."

Recent Gifts Enhance the Campus

The Foundation recently received two in-kind gifts. A Paul De Angelo fish display of trout and salmon from the Lake Ontario region, was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Spraker of Little Falls, NY. Additionally, eight pieces of technical equipment from the Los Angeles studios of David Fincher were donated by Mr. Fincher, who directed numerous well-known movies, most recently “The Girl with the Dragon Tattoo.” In-kind gifts are very important as they enhance campus learning spaces in a unique way and contribute to the support and development of the College.

Guests at the fourth annual President’s Gala were present for the unveiling of the fish display and learned the history and importance of the fish. DeAngelo, who created the display, is one of the premier taxidermy artists in the country and his work is nationally renowned. This display will be incorporated into the newly renovated Gaynor Science wing in Johnson Hall. We are grateful to the Sprakers, Mr. Fincher and all those who have made in-kind gifts.

The College is funded by student tuition and support from local and state dollars. The Foundation was established in the 1960’s as a not-for-profit 501 C(3) to accept donations on the College’s behalf. As a not-for-profit, the donations made to the College, through the Foundation, are tax deductible to the full extent of the law. This added support is very important, especially in light of cuts in local, state and federal funding sources.

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN MAKING A GIFT IN KIND, PLEASE CONTACT THE GIFT ACCEPTANCE COMMITTEE AT 315.866.0300 x 8268 OR EMAIL US AT LUCIA.BLISS@HERKIMER.EDU.
