How to search the web based catalog
There are two ways to search for items: Basic Search (the default) or Advanced Search.

Basic Search: there is one search box for you to enter your keywords in. You can also change what you search for: Keyword or Title or Author or Subject etc. Use the search type menu to make that selection. If you are searching for a phrase, be sure you click the "yes" words adjacent. You can also use quotation marks around your words.
Example: type: nuclear medicine, then click yes to words adjacent. Or you can:
        type: "nuclear medicine"

Advanced Search: there are three search boxes for you to enter keywords in. You can still change what you search for, the same as the basic search. In this search there is the option to use Boolean Operators (AND, OR, NOT). AND is the default setting.
Example:
nuclear AND medicine. Will retrieve all items with nuclear AND medicine in them.
nuclear OR medicine. Will retrieve all items that have nuclear OR medicine in them. This gives you the most results.
nuclear NOT medicine. Will retrieve items that have nuclear but NOT medicine in them.

If you are searching for a phrase be sure you click the "yes" words adjacent. You can also use quotation marks around your words.

In the Advanced search you can limit your results by item type (Books, Journals, Media etc...) or by what collection the item belongs to (Reference, Circulating, Bestsellers etc...)

You can save your searches. You can use the check boxes next to the results and add them to your Basket and print it out or e-mail it for future use.
