Herkimer College Library Tips: How to Search the Online Catalog (Pt. 2)

Advanced Searching

Click Advanced Search located to the right of the search bar.

Use the words AND, OR and NOT to narrow your search.

Example:

Psychology AND/OR/NOT Adolescents

Using AND will limit the search to items that mention both psychology and adolescents.

Using OR will widen your search to items that mention either psychology or adolescents.

Using NOT will eliminate results to items the refer to psychology but do not mention adolescents.

Other advanced search options include searching by material type, language and publication date.

Description Though the Paris Agreement on climate change was a significant achievement, most authorities agree that its measures to reduce greenhouse-gas emissions will be insufficient to offset the forecasted increase in global warming. Climate expert Roger A. Sedjo argues we must also begin planning adaptation strategies--Plan B--which enable societies to anticipate and protect against the worst effects of inevitable climate change.

Contents Introduction. Climate change : where are we now? -- Al Gore and the greenhouse gas theory : Plan A -- Natural climate change : GHGs are not the whole answer -- Plan A, mitigation : a bridge too far? -- Plan B, the adaptation solution -- Adaptation through reflectivity and geoengineering -- Political challenges -- "Plan B" as insurance -- Where from here? : next steps as well as summary and conclusions.
